

34 LIVES WERE LOST WHEN FREIGHTER BROKE UP

TO ASK INSULLS TO RETURN TO U. S. DURING PROBE

Investigation Of Two Bankrupt Concerns Is Going Deeper

Chicago, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The return of Samuel Insull from Paris and his brother, Martin J. Insull, from Ontario will be sought, it was announced by one of the attorneys for investors in the bankrupt Insull Utility Investments, Inc.

Attorney Lewis Jacobson, who made the announcement, said that he and his associates would seek to have subpoenas issued for the brothers, who left the country shortly after the collapse of the Insull utility empire.

Jacobson said, however, that the subpoenas would not be enforceable outside of the jurisdiction of the court in which they were issued, but added that if the brothers failed to reply to them, other steps might be taken. At the same time Jacobson said he would seek to stop the annual pension of $18,000 which Samuel Insull is receiving from three operating Chicago utilities.

Jacobson made his statement yesterday during Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley's inquiry into the affairs of one of the bankrupt Insull investment companies.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson also indicated he would like to question the Insull brothers as well as Samuel Insull's son, Samuel, Jr., still Vice Chairman of the three Chicago operating utilities, who left Saturday to visit his parents in Paris.

Swanson questioned former Insull officials and learned, he said later, that Martin J. Insull withdrew several sheets of stock from the portfolio of the Middle West Utilities Company, huge holding concern of which he was president, to safeguard his own and friends' stock accounts and bank loans.

Revealed Syndicate
Much interest was created by the introduction into evidence at the bankruptcy hearing of a roster of 250 names—many of them nationally known in political, financial, and industrial circles—comprising a syndicate which underwrote part of an issue of 600,000 shares of common stock of the Insull Utility Investments, Inc., in 1930.

Lawyers said introduction of the list did not indicate that the formation of the syndicate was irregular or dishonest, but that they believed it still owed the bankruptcy concern more than $700,000 which should be figured among its assets.

The syndicate was formed in August, 1930, to buy 115,000 shares of stock.

Subscribers were to pay 20 percent of their subscriptions as pledges, attorneys said. Some paid the full amount at once, others paid five per cent down and 15 per cent when the syndicate disclosed while a third group paid the initial five per cent, but have not paid the remaining 15 per cent.

Dissolved in February
The syndicate was disbanded last February with a 20 per cent loss, about $6,000,000. Attorneys said they have a legal claim amounting to about $700,000 against those who failed to pay their full margins.

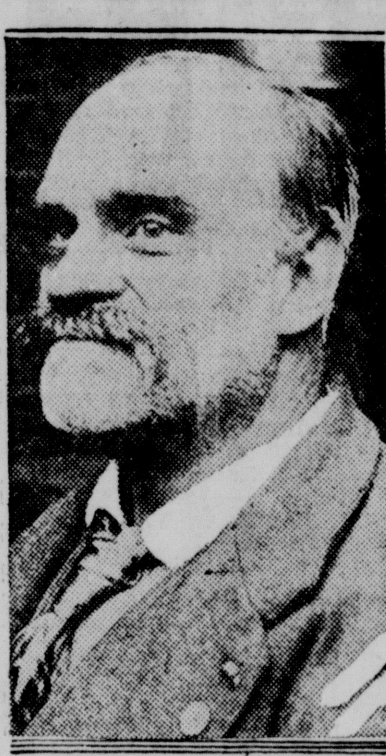

Among the 250 names were those of sundry Insull companies, individuals, and investment concerns. The names included those of Major Anton J. Cernak; Joseph Tumulty, Private Secretary of the late President Woodrow Wilson; Owen D. Young and Gerard Swope, Chairman and President, respectively, of the General Electric Co.; George M. Reynolds and George Woodruff, Chicago bankers; Frank L. Smith, former chairman of the Illinois State Commerce Commission and now Republican State National Committee member; David E. Shanahan, Speaker of the Illinois House of Representatives; Melvin L. Traylor, prominent Democrat and banker.

State's Attorney Swanson said Washington Flexner, president of a printing company, had told him that Martin Insull traded secretly in Flexner's brokerage account and that he borrowed securities belonging to Middle West to use as collateral. Later Flexner said the securities were sold to 12 subsidiaries of Middle West at a loss of $61,200 to the holding company.

Seeks Information About Injured Man
Sheriff Fred Richardson is in receipt of a letter from Ovid Straith, Inspector of the detective division of the Detroit, Mich., police department, inquiring the whereabouts of Garnet Jackson, aged 29, of that city. Jackson is reported to have been hitch-hiking along the Lincoln Highway between Geneva and Clinton, when he met with an accident in which both legs were broken and his back severely injured.

Man Who Spent 56 Of 74 Years In Prison Is Dead

ASSOCIATED PRESS (UNDERWOOD) JESSE POMEROY

Who served forty of his 56 years in prison in solitary confinement, seeing only his guards, died last night at the age of 70 at the Massachusetts state farm. He was sentenced to hang for the murder of a boy when he was 14 years old, but the Governor refused to sign the death warrant, and later his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. He made many daring attempts to escape, his last being foiled by the yowling of a cat he awakened as he neared freedom.

HIS 56 YEARS IN PRISON ENDS IN OLD MAN'S DEATH

Massachusetts' Notorious Lifer Spent 40 Years Alone

Bridgewater, Mass., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Jesse Pomeroy, Massachusetts' notorious life prisoner, who spent all of his years since the age of 14 behind prison bars, died at the state farm here last night at the age of 70 years.

Robert C. Sherman, Superintendent of the state farm, announced the death this morning and said that heart disease was the cause.

Pomeroy was transferred here from the state prison in Charlestown four years ago because of declining health. He had spent more than 40 years of his time at state prison in solitary confinement, during which time he saw only his guards, although the last few years at that institution he had been accorded the liberties of a "trusty."

He strongly opposed his transfer to the more liberal atmosphere on the state farm because, he said, he did not want to leave his friends at the prison.

Set "Solitary Record."
Starting his sentence Sept. 1, 1876, it was not until 1917 that he was permitted to eat in the company of other prisoners or to attend religious services and entertainments in the state prison at Charlestown, Mass.

Penal authorities said that it would be difficult to find a parallel for the time he spent in "solitary." Some believed that he was imprisoned longer than any other man in American criminal history.

The circumstance overshadowed the atrocities conceived by the perpetrator of his boyhood. He was only 14 when he was convicted of murdering a four year old boy and sentenced to be hanged.

But William Gaston, then governor of Massachusetts, was opposed to capital punishment and refused to sign a warrant for the execution. His successor, Gov. Alexander H. Rice, commuted the sentence to life imprisonment at hard labor.

JUDGE HEER OF GALENA ISSUES AN INJUNCTION

It Ties Up Construction Until Pending Suit Is Determined

Judge Harry L. Heer of Galena in the Jo Daviess county circuit court this morning granted an injunction restraining the contractor who is engaged in the construction of the new high school at Lee Center from proceeding further and stopping any building activity in connection with the property. The injunction was granted when Attorneys H. A. Brooks and Edward Jones of this city, who represent several objectors, went to Galena and presented their petition to the judge.

Quo warranto proceedings are now pending before Judge Harry Edwards in the Lee county Circuit Court and the injunction restrains building activities until the local court has acted upon these proceedings. Last Saturday Judge Edwards granted a continuance to permit the counsel for the objectors to file additional action in the case.

Much Litigation.
For many months the Lee Center high school has been in litigation in the local courts through a series of actions. Work had been started on the erection of the new building and had been progressing rapidly until halted by the injunctions proceeding today.

In commenting upon the action by which he granted the injunction at his office in the court house at Galena this morning, Judge Harry L. Heer in a long distance telephone conversation said:

"The injunction restraining any further construction on the Lee Center high school was granted upon the application of Attorneys Brooks and Jones of Dixon, with the understanding that quo warranto proceedings now pending in the Lee county Circuit Court would be finally acted upon at the present term of court."

Three Elevators At Savanna Fell

Savanna, Ill., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Approximately 100,000 bushels of grain have been lost in the Mississippi river by the collapse of three over-loaded elevators here.

Two of the elevators collapsed yesterday and the third last night. The structures, which were the property of the Stratton Grain Co. of Chicago, were situated on the river bank.

Three workmen, who were removing grain to relieve the pressure on the third elevator, narrowly escaped injury when it fell last night.

This Is Farm Roosevelt Operates at Loss

He was born on a farm—lived on it for fifty years—and even now operates it at a loss. Oh yes, "Farmer Frank" knows all about the farm problem!

Above is an aerial view of the "farm," by which the Governor of New York qualifies himself as a "dirt farmer." With an open-air swimming pool, a private golf course, boxwood hedges, a greenhouse, a six-car garage, a "farm house" with twenty bedrooms and ten servants, the principal agricultural activities consist of a splendid kitchen garden to supply the "big house."

The usual silo is conspicuous in its absence but there is a very nice, homey gate keeper's lodge guarding the inner precincts from intruders.

The estate, at Hyde Park-On-the-Hudson, belongs to Mr. Roosevelt's mother, but it is the one on which he was born; on which he has "lived fifty years," and now "operates at a loss."

A war in ruinous prices for dairy products is being waged by the embattled farmers of New York State, but Mr. Roosevelt has exhibited a marked apathy toward their problems and to date has made no move of any kind to assist them.

DIXON BUILDING & LOAN MEMBERS TO DIST MEET.

Learn Of Operation New Federal Home Loan Banks

Several officers of the Dixon Loan & Building Association motored to Belvidere today where they attended the meeting of group 2 of the Building Association League of Illinois.

Those attending from Dixon were Amos H. Bosworth, Charles E. Miller, Alfred P. Arrington, Dr. Warren G. Murray, Edward Newman and Frank B. Stephan.

The business sessions are being held at the Bel-Mar Country Club where talks by two national leaders in the eight and half billion dollar building and loan business, Ward B. Whitlock of Springfield, president of the United States Building & Loan League and Ralph H. Richards of Chicago, director of field service for the league were scheduled. The new Home Loan banks will be the subject of discussion.

Mr. Whitlock has been secretary of the Illinois League for a number of years and served as chairman of the Home Building and Home Owning committee of the national league which he now heads. The Illinoisian is now the national leader of the building and loan interests.

Mr. Richards has traveled in practically every state in the union during the past year as a result of his duties with the league and has first hand knowledge of the conditions which await the opening of the Home Loan banks on October 15. Illinois associations will become members of the bank in District 7, to be located at Evanston.

Receivers Named For Electric Road

Chicago, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee Railroad was placed in receivership today by Federal Judge James A. Wilkerson.

MULZER FLYING CIRCUS MONDAY AT DIXON FIELD

People Of Dixon Vicinity Offered Unique Entertainment

The Mulzer Flying Circus of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., will furnish entertainment for residents of Dixon and vicinity Monday afternoon at the Dixon Municipal airport when Major Leslie G. Mulzer, veteran United States Army Air Corps reserve pilot will bring his company of fliers and planes to Dixon.

The Chamber of Commerce airport committee, sponsors of the show, has announced that no admission will be charged to the field and there will be no charge for the parking of automobiles.

The program, which will start at 1:30 Monday afternoon, will feature acrobatic demonstrations of "looping the loop" and other aerial gymnastics and stunt flying by Miss Virginia Whittlesey, who is one of a very few women stunt flyers in the middle west and who presents a complete program of thrillers with her Speed Wing Wa-co plane.

Pilot Dave McMinmen will present to the public of Dixon and vicinity the first autogyro to be seen on the local field, and with his odd plane will race with Miss Whittlesey, also giving a demonstration in slow and high speed flying, maneuver ability and vertical landing.

Dick Hunter will appear on the program, making a parachute jump from one of the planes at a height of one mile.

Mel Swanson, veteran transport pilot will bring a giant Ford airplane to Dixon and will be relieved at intervals by Major Mulzer in transporting passengers over Dixon and vicinity. The other planes will also carry passengers during the afternoon and early evening, many having already indicated a desire to ride in the autogyro.

CHICAGOANS TO STAGE PARADE FOR ROOSEVELT

Democratic Nominee To See Yankees and Cubs Tomorrow

Chicago, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Local Democratic leaders were seeking old fashioned kerosene torches today for use in the parade tonight that will follow the arrival of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt in Chicago.

After announcing yesterday that the Democratic presidential nominee would be greeted in Chicago with an old fashioned parade, torches and everything, it was suddenly discovered that no torches of the type used in the days of Cleveland, Bryan and McKinley were available.

Ensued then a hectic but unavailing search which was to be continued today in antique and junk shops.

However, the parade will be held, the Democrats said, torches or no torches.

Plans call for "red fire" marching clubs, horns, rattles and callopes in the parade which will meet the Governor when he de-trains at the Union Station. He will drive at the head of the parade from the station, through the loop and to his hotel.

Tomorrow the schedule calls for the Governor's attendance at the third game of the world series between the Chicago Cubs and the New York Yankees. In the evening he will attend a banquet in his honor for which 2,600 seats have been reserved.

Catalina Home At Grandy Is Burned

The Frank Catalina residence in Grand Detour was completely destroyed, together with its contents, by fire of undetermined origin, last evening. The interior of the dwelling was a roaring furnace when the fire was discovered and the flames were soon beyond control. In less than half an hour the structure was burned to the ground.

The owner and part of his family were said to have been in Dixon at the time and two small children, who had been left at home, had gone to a store to purchase candy. It was in their absence that the fire was discovered. Several attempts were made to gain entrance to the doomed structure in an effort to carry out some of the household effects, but each time the men were driven back by the intense heat and flames. The reflection of the fire was seen for miles around and attracted a large crowd. None of the adjacent buildings was damaged, there being no wind to fan the flames. The loss was reported to have been partially covered with insurance.

RECEIVERSHIPS PROFITABLE IN 231 STATE BANKS

State Auditor's Report Shows Liquidation Costs Are Low

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 30.—(AP)—State Auditor Oscar Nelson today announced that nearly $42,600,000 had been paid in cash and by offset to depositors in 335 closed state banks in Illinois, July 1. Deposits of $7,815,081 were paid in full as preferred claims and offsets of $12,600,632 were allowed. Beyond that a total of $22,177,010 was paid in dividends.

Total resources were $272,863,346 at the time the banks closed. Of this sum $82,071,239 has been liquidated at a loss of only 8.34 per cent. This includes a loss of more than $3,000,000 suffered by banks in Cook county where larger banks disposed of collateral which had been posted for loans.

Public liabilities at closing were $215,538,449. These have been reduced $66,092,906 by the payment of $23,494,181 in bills payable in addition to the $42,598,724 paid depositors. There was also $10,420,299 cash in the hands of receivers, drawing two per cent interest.

Liquidation Costs Low
On July 1 the book value of the assets exceeded the liabilities by $41,263,653. In addition the stockholders were liable for somewhere around $40,000,000 legally collectable for the benefit of depositors. The stockholders' liability suits are not under control of the State Auditor's office and exact figures on possible collections could not be obtained.

The gross cost of liquidation of the 335 banks was only 6.5 per cent of the $82,071,239 collected. With operating income deducted, the net cost was six-tenths of one per cent. The 231 banks outside of Cook county showed an operating profit in receivership of $39,218.

THREE OF CREW ABLE TO REACH ARCTIC ISLAND

Cause Of Tragedy In Northern Seas Remains Unknown

Seattle, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Pieces of the battered hull of the freight hauler Nevada, pounded today on a rocky Aleutian island where 34 members of her crew were drowned by stormy seas.

Only three men survived—saved by their own strength and daring and the heroism of life boat crews from two rescue ships.

They were taken off Amignak Island late yesterday by the President Madison in a serious condition from exposure and lack of food. They had remained on the island, without shelter and only dried flour to eat for two sleepless days and nights after seeing their Captain and shipmates leap into a gas-lashed sea and never appear again.

The three are: James Thorsen, a Cadet of Portland Oregon; Fritz Dewart, able-bodied seaman, no address; and Lucena N. Decaney, ordinary seaman, Manila, P. I.

Too Weak To Talk
They were so weak when taken aboard the President Madison they could tell only snatches of the horror they witnessed when their Japan-bound freighter piled on the rocks and then began to break to pieces. Of the officers and crew of 37, they were the only ones to reach shore fighting their way successfully through breakers which a day later kept a small boat of the Japanese freighter Oregon Maru from reaching the uninhabited island to take them off.

Before their eyes, they said, their Captain, T. W. Johansen of Portland, Oregon, and the First Officer, E. T. Wendt, also of Portland leaped overboard into the foaming surf to disappear.

Heroism of rescued and rescuers was told in a laconic message from Captain R. J. Healy of the President Madison, hero of a previous less tragic rescue in Aleutian waters, to radioed:

"We have taken aboard the three survivors of the freighter Nevada. Rest were drowned in the surf. The rescue work by our officers and crew was magnificent."

Cause Is Unknown
During rescue attempts in gale and high seas, a small boat of the Oregon Maru was lost and several men injured. Food was thrown over the side of the Japanese freighter in the hope it would float to shore where the trio was marooned.

One of those aboard the ship was a passenger, Portus D. Berry, 26, of Seattle, who was making a trip to the Orient for his health. The cause of the disaster to the ship, owned by the States Steamship Company of Portland, had not been revealed as its radio went silent after its first SOS late Tuesday night. After a 16-hour search the Oregon Maru found the Nevada piled on the rocks of the island where it had either been driven by the gale or deliberately rammed around to give the crew a chance to reach shore when the ship was in a sinking condition.

The Madison, 300 miles away, turned off her course to come to the scene and was led to the wreck by the Oregon Maru.

Brooks of Chicago, passed away at a hospital at Bloomington, Thursday morning, death resulting from shock and internal injuries sustained in an automobile crash a short distance south of Bloomington early Wednesday evening. Mr. Brooks is very well known in Dixon among the electrical dealers, having been manager of the lamp department of the Westinghouse Company and for the past 20 years had visited Dixon, where he made many warm friends. William Cahill will go to Chicago Saturday to attend the funeral, which will be held tomorrow afternoon. Both men were slightly injured and Mr. Brooks was thought to have sustained only minor bruises, but both were taken to a Bloomington hospital, where the deceased died Thursday morning.

Master Of "Death" Ferry Lost Permit

New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The Board of Steamboat Inspection Service, investigating the labor ferry "Observation" disaster, announced today it had revoked the license of Captain Alexander J. Forsyth, master of the "Observation." He was aboard the boat when it exploded and sank in the East river September 9 with a loss of 71 lives. Board members said they attempted to question Captain Forsyth in Fordham hospital but he refused to answer, on advice of counsel. Later he was indicted by a Bronx county grand jury on a charge of second degree manslaughter.

A Love Match No Longer

It was no love match when Greta Nissen, movie actress, and Weldon Heyburn watched the tennis tournament at Hollywood. For, two days after this picture was taken, they announced their six-months-old marriage had ended in a separation.

HIS 56 YEARS IN PRISON ENDS IN OLD MAN'S DEATH

he cut on opening through his cell door, rigged a conductor from a gas jet into his cell and ignited the gas in the hope of burning a hole in the wall. Instead he burned himself, severely.

His last serious attempt was in 1912 when he sawed three bars from his cell, fitted dummies in their places to cover his activities and, when ready for the dash, slipped through the hole and was creeping along the corridor toward an unsuspecting guard when he aroused a sleeping cat. The startled feline yowled and jumped at him. The guard found him armed with a dagger and equipped with a file and three saws.

One Glimpse of "Outside."

In June, 1930, after he had been transferred to the state farm at Bridgewater, knives, saws and files were found in his room, but the authorities declared this was only a "publicity stunt." They said the articles were "a lot of junk" and that the aging Pomeroy was physically unable to use them.

Pomeroy made frequent efforts to obtain a pardon, petitioning governor after governor for executive clemency. But the only glimpse he had of the outside world was in 1929 when he was whisked in a closed automobile from Charleston to the Bridge-water state farm, the transfer being made so he could receive better medical care.

On that trip he marvelled when he saw an elevated train, a steam shovel and a steam roller; asked, bewilderedly where the horses had been from the roads, saw his first ice cream cone and, noticing a newspaper bulletin board, was puzzled because he was still described as a slayer.

Began Crime Early.

Pomeroy's brief career of crime began at the age of thirteen. Children four and five years of age had been found from day to day tied to telegraph poles or strapped to boards, in Chelsea and the South Boston districts, stripped of clothing and suffering from cuts and bruises.

They said an older boy had attacked them, trussed them up and then beaten them with sticks and ropes. The schools of the city were searched and in one Joseph Kennedy, a boy victim, pointed to young Pomeroy and said he was the assailant.

"I know him by his eye," said Kennedy. One of Pomeroy's eyes was almost albino, the other blue.

For these assaults, none of which proved fatal, Pomeroy was sent to a reform school, from which he was released 17 months later. Within six months he killed two children in a frightful manner. The body of Horace Miller, four years old, was found on the clam flats in South Boston, naked and mutilated. That of Kittle Curran was discovered stripped and mutilated buried in ashes in the cellar of the Pomeroy home.

It was for the death of the Miller child that a jury found Pomeroy guilty of murder in the first degree four and five years of age had been found from day to day tied to telegraph poles or strapped to boards, in Chelsea and the South Boston districts, stripped of clothing and suffering from cuts and bruises.

THE BUTCHER—

H STARRED as halfback on high school team. Fast and strong and with a gallant heart, he soon won honors; at the very start of life game smiled—then vanished as a dream. That was long ago. Today he stands on sawdust in a narrow, crowded stall; He hangs huge halves of beef up on the wall. Or rolls a prime rib roast with knowing hands.

He greets his customers with courtesy, Accepts his pay politely, with a bow. A wears an air of quiet dignity. As one who has known laurels on his brow. When he presents a steak with courtesy grace, Lord Chesterfield rules in the market place!

S. S. Class Meeting And Election Officers Thurs. Night

The "Crusaders" Sunday school class of the Brethren church held a class party in the parlors of the church Thursday evening. The retiring class president, J. D. Brantner, called the class to order and conducted the following organization. President, Lloyd Hook; Secretary, Treasurer, Mrs. Ora Bender; Teacher, Edward Myers. The class considered various projects for assisting the church in a financial way. It was decided that the class would pay the light and gas bills for the church for one year. The class has a mighty fine record for assisting the church in a financial way. It was also decided that the class will have a monthly meeting in the church parlors the last Thursday evening of each month, and a picnic supper will be served, instead of individuals furnishing the refreshments. Thirty-five members of the class were present and they all enjoyed the games which were led by Mr. Glessner, chairman of the social committee. The class expressed a desire to increase their membership to fifty with an average attendance at Sunday school of thirty-five.

Borrowing Spreads Much Unhappiness

"Where is your book, Lois?" "I lent it to Helen." "Helen! What for? I wanted to look at it—your birthday present from your aunt." "She saw it and asked if she could borrow it. So I said yes. I hadn't time to read it right away, anyway." "My, but you are a little softy," said Lois' mother. "That girl just works you for everything you have. Has she brought the other books back yet that she borrowed? There must be half a dozen over there now."

"No—I told her you said for me to get them and she's looking them up. I think her cousin took a couple home and she has to get them back."

Mother Says "No!"
"I never saw such a family," declared her mother indignantly. "They wouldn't buy a book or anything else for their children on any account, but they get every book that comes into this house before we see it ourselves. Now I'm going to lay down the law. Nothing else goes out of this house. Remember. If Helen wants something come and tell me." Lois colored painfully. "If we get mean about it she won't go with me. She's always saying I'm a little bit young and things like that. I want her to be my friend because—well—everybody wants her. But she says she likes me best and all the girls wish they were me."

"I don't care, my dear. I see you being imposed upon every day and I can't stand it. She is just working you. The other day she wore your new hat before it was out of the box, almost. Suggested you had it for a day. So she wore your hat the first day to school and you wore hers. Dears knows what people thought when they saw you wearing it after that."

Helen Has Her Way
"And it seems to me that every time I want you to do an errand you have to run over to her house to get your bicycle. When you two go to the movies she always chooses the show, you never go where you suggest. If you want to play a game, she wants to take a walk. Walking you go. But if you want to walk she decides it's to be something else."

"But I like her, mother. She's awfully nice to me."

"Nice! Of course she is. I see Helen's good points too, but she is mercenary. If you know what that means. She will always be nice to people she can work. But there, dear. Don't feel too bad about all I have said. However, I wish you wouldn't be so easy and wouldn't let her walk all over you."

A Mercenary Child
The next day Lois came to her mother weeping. "Helen won't speak to me. I wouldn't let her copy my night work and she's going with Grace."

"Well I wouldn't cry. It was bound to happen."

"She—she was wearing Grace's new raincoat and Grace was treating her to ice cream at the drug store."

"She will always sell her friendship, always. After a while she will desert Grace for someone with bigger and better favors."

Alice is a real friend. Go and hunt up Alice."

Lois brightened. "Yes. I will. She's not mean, a bit."

Meeting Palmyra Mutual Aid Society With Mrs. Holzhauser

Twenty-one members and three children of the Palmyra Mutual Aid Society enjoyed the generous hospitality of Mrs. Amos Holzhauser, Wednesday Sept. 28th. Mrs. William Carlsen acted as assistant hostess.

An appetizing dinner, including chicken and biscuits was served at noon. Fall garden flowers graced the table and living rooms. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Ruby Mensch. A hymn was sung, after which all repeated the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Oscar Buhler, then read the Scripture Lesson. The Secretary and Treasurer's report were read and approved. The President then read the list of committees for the coming year. Mrs. LeRoy Buhler had charge of the games for the afternoon. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Chas. Mensch, Mrs. Arnos Holzhauser and Mrs. Leon Hart.

The next meeting place will be announced in the Telegraph at a future date.

Mrs. Boucher Gave Excellent Address At Republican Rally

Prophetstown, Ill., Sept. 30.—Leo Allen, Galena, Republican nominee for congressman, from the Thirtieth district, and Mrs. C. W. Boucher, Valparaiso, Ind., gave addresses before approximately seventy-five members of the Whiteside County Women's Republican club at the Congregational church here Thursday.

In a brief address, Leo Allen urged the election of all Republican nominees to state and national offices. Mrs. Boucher, the Democratic presidential nominee, and Democratic congressmen.

"Silver Lining"
"We are all looking for a silver lining. So many times in the past, we have outlived storms and panics, and if we women will stand by and give the Republican candidates our support, they will find the silver lining. By not voting we have allowed too many undesirable to get into office. We have measured our congressmen by the returns they have made for the state, and they have had no chance to prove their capability. Instead of working for the general welfare of the nation, the states have made their elections a source of barter. Let our object be the welfare of the whole country," she declared.

"The principles of the Republican party have been tested and proved, but the Democratic party has been tried and found wanting. It is a poor time to try a doubtful venture. History has proved that taxation has been the chief cause of the downfall of nations. We are insisting and demanding that tax burdens be relieved. Propositions for tax reductions have been refused by the Democratic congress. If we judge the future from the past, the past, the Democratic congress will do nothing to cut expenditures."

Says Hoover is Hero
"Gov. Roosevelt must have been a debater. When he has not argument, he resorts to ridicule—a poor debater's refuge. President Hoover is a hero. His calm exterior belies his agony of soul and eagerness to serve. Never since Lincoln has the country been so menaced from without and within, but never has the President showed a sign of gesture of retreat. Some day a monument will be erected in his honor. With your help, he will win," Mrs. Boucher declared.

Mrs. C. A. Todd of Dixon motored to Prophetstown yesterday to hear Mrs. Boucher and Mr. Allen speak. Mrs. Todd was accompanied by Mrs. Charles Russell, Mrs. J. Hobbs, Mrs. Lewis Dement and Mrs. C. B. Morrison, all greatly enjoying the program of the afternoon.

No Defection From Hoover Among Fair Voters Of Country

New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, Vice Chairman of the Republican National Committee, told a conference at the Women's National Republican Club today that "there is no defection among Republican women; they are standing firm for President Hoover."

"Women voters were largely responsible for Mr. Hoover's election in 1928," Mrs. Hert said. "They will re-elect him on November 8."

She said "Republican women are thinking straight and demagogues does not interest them."

Ten Tables Amboy Woman's Club Party

WELL, THAT'S NICE

Boston—The thief who stole Mrs. Mary Crosby's pocketbook from her car a short time ago has one mark on the right side of the ledger. The purse contained only $1 at the time of the theft. The robber, according to police opinion, realized that the license in the pocketbook was valuable to him. He took the purse, containing the license, but minus the dollar, and tucked it under the door of Mrs. Crosby's apartment.

WHERE MUSEUMS FAIL.

Mussolini's Rome is getting ready for a big celebration in the fall of 1937. That will be the 2000th anniversary of the birth of the Emperor Augustus, and a great exhibition will be held to show precisely what Roman life was like in the Augustan period.

There will be maps, models, pictures, relics, plaster of paris displays, wax figures and so on, and the idea is that anyone who sees them will know just what things looked like, on the streets and in the homes, in the Rome of the first Caesars.

It all sounds like an interesting stunt; and one is forced to wonder if, some day 20 centuries in the future, someone won't feel impelled to put on a similar exhibition showing what life in the 20th century America was like.

What features of life today will historians of a far-distant future pick out as typical, anyhow?

Beyond a doubt there will be exhibits of machinery—everything from machine tool lathes to automobiles, from movie sound cameras to submarines. There will be exhibits to show how we amused ourselves—reproductions of vast stadia, no doubt, plaster casts of baseball and football players in action, relief maps of golf courses, and so on.

Probably there will be models of big city apartment houses, models of skyscrapers, models of street cars during the rush hour jam, models of factories, or railway yards, of steel mills, of coal mines and of lumber camps—and the folk of 3900 A. D. will peer at them, and wag their heads, and wonder how on earth we managed to live happily among such devices, and thank their stars they live in a more enlightened age.

But they probably will come no closer to getting a real understanding of everyday life in 1932 than we can come to an understanding of everyday life in the Rome of Caesar Augustus.

For the things that color the lives of people most intimately aren't the things you can reproduce in a museum. Wax models and plaster casts can't reproduce the joy that parents get from their children, or the mysterious beauty of old age, or the way two youngsters feel when they start life together in a three-room flat, or the silent heroism of unnumbered humble bread-winners.

The enduring things and the important things have to be guessed at. You can't make mechanical copies of them.

CLOWNS IN RUSSIA.

A campaign has begun in Moscow the other day to abolish clowns in all circuses which give performances within the Soviet union. Clown performances, it is explained, are incompatible with proletarian principles and do very little to advance the five-year plan or build up a strong Communist regime. Hence they must be cut out of the picture.

This, of course, is just another of those things that make one wonder what has happened to the Russian's sense of humor—if he ever had one. But it serves, also, as a reminder that some of the most pleasant things in life are absolutely and unashamedly useless.

Circus clowns don't advance the cause of Communism? Well, they don't advance the cause of capitalism, either. They don't advance the cause of anything which is why we like them. And a society that has no use for anything useless must be an uncomfortable sort of place to live.

Now, if ever, is the time to see that boys are employed to keep them from joining the ever-swelling ranks of homeless, wandering youth.—Joel R. Moore, supervisor U. S. probation system.

No racket has yet been discovered that did not present itself as having a worthy economic or social purpose.—Gordon L. Hostetter, executive director, Employers' Association of Chicago.

We definitely are out of the panicky state that banking and business have been suffering for many months.—Wilson McCarthy, Reconstruction Finance Corporation director.

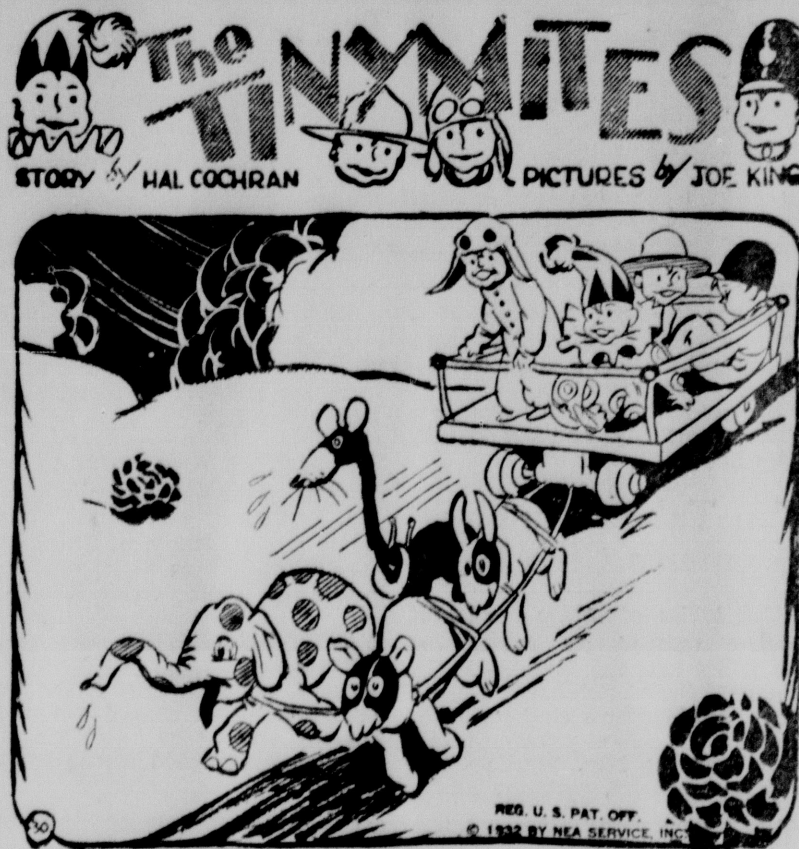

There is more danger of the forgotten nation than of the forgotten man.—President James Lukens McConaughy of Wesleyan University.

If widespread eugenic reforms are not adopted during the next hundred years or so, our western civilization is inevitably destined to . . . slow and gradual decay.—Major Leonard Darwin, 82, son of Charles Darwin.

If you ever hear me say I am going to give up my agnosticism, you can consider me a fit subject for the psychopathic hospital.—Clarence Darrow, famed Chicago attorney and agnostic.

My life I count as of no consequence.—Mahatma Gandhi, Indian leader.

Attack is the best means of defense.—Adolf Hitler, leader of Germany's Nazis.

The elephant with the candy trunk all of a sudden dropped, kerplunk! Wee Scooty said, "Oh are you hurt? We've made you stand too long."

"You see your candy was so fine we tried to eat all that we could. We're sorry that we kept you here. You don't look very strong."

"Oh, don't mind him," the zoo man cried, as he ran to the small beast's side. "That fall down is a signal that his candy is all gone. The last piece always makes him drop. He wants his trunk filled to the top. Right now, though, I will let him snooze. He will wake again at dawn."

And then the zoo man added, "Say, it is almost at the end of day. Why don't you Tinies also sleep? I'll watch over you all."

"I am not tired, so do not fret. A good night's rest you all can get." The Tinies agreed it was a smart thing to do.

At dawn they woke up feeling great. The zoo man shouted, "If

News In Capital

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — Although nothing has been said about it, perhaps it is more than the strategic position of Iowa politically that sends Herbert Hoover back after an absence of four years to open again his active campaign for the presidency.

The President is known to have more than a little sentiment in his make-up. There have been many instances of this during his stay in the White House.

Although he has frowned on so-called attempts to "humanize" him and his actions, ever so often the little stories of this trait in the man filter from the executive mansion.

BORN IN IOWA—

The President's boyhood was spent in Iowa. He was born and lived for 10 years in West Branch. The intervening years have not erased that period from his memory.

"The entry to life which I could wish for every boy and girl," he once said, "are the joys which were mine in Iowa. The glories of the snowy winter. . . . The interludes from work in the swimming hole, fishing in creeks, the hunting for prairie chickens and rabbits in the hedges and woods."

The President still remembers that boyhood swimming hole. On his last visit to West Branch he observed that it has the same big mud-bank; that it is still impossible to dress without carrying mud home on one's clothes.

MORE THAN FASHION VOTE—

Reports have it that once President Hoover acquiesced in the insistent demands of his close advisers that he take the stump, he at once chose Des Moines as the first stop.

There hardly can be any doubt that the unrest and dissatisfaction among the farmers in that section had a lot to do with his decision. But perhaps, too, his decision was quickened by the memory of a statement he made to the people of Iowa four years ago—

"I am glad, a son of Iowa, to come back. Here my parents and my grandparents toiled, worshipped God, did their part in building this community, and now lie in the cemetery over the hill."

Two Illinois College
Safes Battered Into

Jacksonville, Ill., Sept. 29 — (AP)—Two safes in Illinois College offices were battered open by burglars last night who escaped with $100 in cash. Checks totalling several hundred dollars were passed up.

Offices of Acting President J. G. Ames and Dean C. S. Chappelle were entered, the safes opened with heavy tools and the contents scattered over the floor.

Fingerprints found on the safes and furniture were photographed today by police.

GOOD THOUGHTS

To point out the need to be free from fear is comparatively easy. How to accomplish this desirable end is not so easy, unless one looks to God. The perfect remedy for fear is to strengthen faith through increasing our understanding of God. How can this be done? When it is learned that God is infinite good, omnipresent and omnipotent, the belief in evil is destroyed.

All I have seen teaches me to trust the Creator for all I have not seen.

The less there is of fear, so much the less generally is there of danger.

God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind.

His eyes cast down, an embarrassed look on his face, and a pearl-grey hat carefully concealing a pair of handcuffs, Al Capone appeared in Atlanta at a court hearing designed to get him out of jail. "Snorky," as he is known to his intimates, must go back to jail at least until Oct. 19, when further hearing on a request for a habeas corpus will be had. ## SUBLETTE NEWS

By Mrs. H. D. Oeschger

Sublette—A family reunion was held at the home of Jacob F. Becker home in Sublette last Sunday afternoon. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Will Becker, Charlie Becker and family, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Becker and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Becker Jr. and family and Rev. and Mrs. H. D. Oeschger. The afternoon was spent in playing horse shoe and also singing. Walter Becker, a son of Anthony Becker entertained the family very royally by playing his guitar and harmonica. Late in the afternoon refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cake were served.

The Quinn family from Mendota have moved to Sublette. Mr. Quinn is hauling milk for the cheese factory.

Misses Doris and Marjorie McNinch spent the week end visiting relatives in Rockford.

Rev. and Mrs. H. D. Oeschger were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Long.

The Sublette Women's Club held its meeting last Tuesday afternoon in the basement of the church. Mrs. Truckenbrod was in charge of the program. The topic for the discussion was "Ancient Libraries." This proved to be very interesting and educational as Mrs. Truckenbrod had gathered so very much material from different sources. The lunch was served in sacks—each lady bringing a sack and exchanging it. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. H. D. Oeschger.

The Boy Scouts have postponed their meeting for this week on account of the Mendota festival.

Mrs. Jacob Thier, who has been bedfast for sometime, has improved; however she is still confined to her bed.

Relishes Are a Great Help in Whetting Appetites, and Are Easy to Make

Since flagging appetites are whetted by novel flavors, the piquant sauce makes a definite contribution to the well-balanced menu. It's actual food value may be very small, but it makes the plainest pot-roast dinner or cold-meat supper palatable and interesting.

An infinite variety of these sauces can be made easily and inexpensively, so that the filling of the relish shelves of the preserve cupboard is not a forbidding task.

Dresden Relish
6 sweet red peppers
1 sweet green pepper
6 sweet yellow peppers
1 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons salt
1 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon celery seed
1 tablespoon mustard seed

Remove stem ends and seeds from peppers. Peel onions. Put peppers and onions through food chopper. Put in sauce pan, cover with boiling water and let stand five minutes. Drain. Put into preserving kettle with sugar, salt, spices and vinegar. Bring to the boiling point and simmer until tender. It will take about thirty minutes. Pour into sterilized jars and seal. Store in a dark cool place.

Rummage Pickle
2 quarts green tomatoes
1 quart ripe tomatoes
3 large heads celery
4 large green cucumbers
3 large onions
3 green peppers
3 red peppers
1 small head cabbage
1-2 cup salt

Wash tomatoes and remove the stems. Chop coarsely. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons salt and let drain over night. Pare, core and chop apples. Peel and chop onions. Remove seeds and pith from peppers and chop. Combine sugar, remaining salt and vinegar. Bring to the boiling point and boil five minutes. Add remaining ingredients and simmer until vegetables are tender and mixture is thick. It will take about an hour. Turn into sterilized glasses and seal.

If mint flavor is wanted add 1 cup minced mint leaves to chopped mixture when added to vinegar.

toes are higher in fat and carbohydrates but lower in protein than Irish potatoes. One-half of a baked sweet potato provides 100 calories, while one whole, medium sized Irish potato is necessary to furnish the 100-calorie portion.

Both sweet and Irish potatoes are good carriers for fat, since their palatability depends greatly on a generous seasoning of butter.

Vitamin A — so essential for growth and the building of new tissues — is present in sweet potatoes in considerable quantity. In fact, it's a much richer source of this vitamin than is the Irish potato. Vitamins B and C are found in small amounts.

Southern cooks are adept at cooking sweet potatoes. They make delicious rolls, using sweet potatoes in place of the usual Irish. Desserts also are delectable made with sweet potatoes, while the vegetable dishes are many and inviting.

Twice-baked sweet potatoes are very simple to make. Bake until tender. Then cut in halves lengthwise and scoop out pulp. Mash and season with salt, pepper, lots of butter and cream to make most.

Beat until light and fluffy. Chopped nuts can be added if liked. Pile mixture lightly into the shells and brush over with melted butter. Return to the oven to make very hot, and brown tops.

Sweet potatoes can be mashed and seasoned and piled in a buttered baking dish to be topped with marshmallows. Put into a moderate oven to toast the marshmallows. Be careful not to have the oven too hot as the marshmallows cook quickly.

Sweet Potatoes Baked With Apples
This delicious dish comes from Virginia.

Use three medium-sized sweet potatoes, 4 apples, 2-3 cup sugar, 1-3 cup butter, 1-2 cup hot water. Scrub potatoes and boil until

DOGGY FROCKS VIE WITH CANINES AT TUXEDO SHOW

By BETSY SCHUYLER
NEA Service Writer

There was a lingering touch of summer in the air when society gathered at Tuxedo Park, New York, for the annual Tuxedo Kennel Club Dog Show. This is one of the sports features that is the premier of the fall season's activities. This Tuxedo competition, which has been going on for something like seven or eight years, boasted one of the most completely filled cards of any dog show in the east.

Summer frocks mingled with the wines and browns and forest greens that autumn is sending down the fashion avenues. White was making its last gallant gesture.

There were few coats, for the day was warm and the sun was bright, but now and then a smart tweed with a huge fur collar that did flatter things to its wearer's face came by.

Small hats of felt or other fabric were much in evidence. Straw had disappeared from the scene.

Most of the frocks, both summer and autumn, were belted. The wide shoulder effect had crept into the warm-weather dressed that remained, just as it appeared in the autumn frocks.

Miss Mary Kernochan (right) wore a loosely knitted sports frock that broadened its shoulders by using a capelet collar cut with a square effect. The gown, which molded the body, was relieved by a wide belt placed at the natural waistline.

"Sinner" Doggy in New Leather Leash

One of the all-over embroidery patterns was the choice of Mrs. John Murray Mitchell (center), who was present with "Sinner" her Scotch terrier. The frock a two-piece affair, featured a white yoke and a neckline that was high in the back, but turned back at the front to form a lapel.

A white dress, adorned with a row of four bright buttons and a gay scarf, worn by Miss Mary A. Phipps (left), added the right note to the spectators' rows. Her sports coat had a large fox collar and her hat was tilted audaciously at the accepted autumn angle.

Daily Health Talk

"Man, of all the beings on this earth, has the power of limited substitution when something goes wrong with the anatomy. A leg is crushed and an artificial one is supplied. An eye is lost, and in due time a glass one, sometimes nearly defying detection, is put in its place. An accident occurs causing a rightful disfigurement of the face, and plastic surgery ingeniously comes to the rescue. And for lost teeth, false ones are supplied," states Dr. L. W. Neber, Supt. of the State Health Department's dental section, today.

"In spite of care, teeth will sometimes have to come out. Frequently one, again, all of them. The point to be stressed is that if for any cause teeth are removed, the obligation should immediately be placed upon the dentist to arrest the changes that almost inevitably follow. In this connection it should be emphasized that the substitution of a false tooth or the placement of a complete denture is a job requiring expert work and most conscientious handling."

"Incidentally, do not permit any person to persuade you that the false ones are just as good. They render a great service, but fall far short of the teeth provided by nature. Misery loves company, you know. Keep your teeth by keeping clean teeth."

ELBOW INJURIES
It is well known that children are liable to suffer falls and to injure their ankles, knees and elbows.

At times, elbow injuries are likely to be followed by serious results, particularly when the injury is in the nature of a fracture.

One of the important complications of elbow injuries in children is what is known as ischemic paralysis, the type due to an interference with the venous return of blood in the affected limb.

This complication may arise from several conditions, such as hemorrhage about the injury, pressure due to some displaced fragment of bone, or occasionally from pressure due to tight bandaging.

The nerves, too, are subject to injury—particularly what is known as the ulnar nerve when the inner portion of the elbow joint is hurt.

Still another complication following injuries in the elbow is the locking of the elbow joint and the formation in the region of large bone masses.

This may be due to the tearing away of the periosteum or covering of the bone and to hemorrhage. New bone grows to a disproportionate extent and so cripples the joint that normal movement is impossible.

Injuries about the elbow should be handled with great caution. Prompt medical attention should be secured and tight bandaging as well as violent and unnecessary movement of the injured elbow should be avoided.

It should be borne in mind, also, that the complications described may arise even when the injury has been accorded the very best medical and surgical care.

The appearance of ischemic paralysis, nerve injury, or locking of the elbow joint following an injury, cannot usually be attributed to improper surgical or medical handling.

It is, however, a fact, that the sooner after injury medical treatment is instituted, the better are the chances for avoiding complications.

Pickle Shortage
Facing Country

Chicago, Sept. 28 —(AP)—This isn't intended to be an alarmist story but—gather 'round all lovers of glorified cucumbers—America is facing a paucity of pickles.

J. E. Mitchell, secretary of the National Pickle Packers Association, revealed the emergency at the organization's convention here yesterday. The crop this year represented a decrease of more than 80 per cent from that of 1931, he said.

In stark terms, for each man, woman and child in the country there will be only one and one-third quarts of pickles.

What is the PRICE OF BEAUTY?

Without health there can be little natural beauty. The wise woman knows that the condition of her body shows itself on her face, her complexion, and in her eyes.

She takes care to avoid constipation. This treacherous ailment frequently causes headaches, sallow skin, pimples, premature aging.

Try the pleasant "cereal way" to protect yourself from constipation. Science has proved that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron, which helps build up the blood.

The "bulk" in this delicious cereal is much like that of lettuce. How much safer than abusing your system with pills and drugs—so often habit-forming!

Two tablespoons daily will correct most types of constipation. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

The Transformed City
Along the road of Tomorrow a young man strolled in search of the wonders of the Future. Moonbeams played about him and the air was full of stardust, and it was not long before weariness overcame him and he fell asleep by the wayside. When he awoke, he continued on his way until a city appeared. Quicken his pace, he was soon at its gates. There he inquired of him who stood on guard the name of the city. "It is called Yesterday," was the reply, and the young man gaped in surprise. You see, he was a very young man and one who has much to learn—particularly that Tomorrow is certain to become Yesterday when one falls asleep by the wayside.—Detroit News.

cut in.

"You have seen the doctor?" Swergin nodded. "And if you want my idea, I think all this is a bum bet. Don't know that I'll be able to do it."

Dona flashed him a quick glance. "Why not?" She asked sharply. "Well," Swergin seemed to be enjoying himself. "I am just a hired man. Old Asper hires me and pays me. I report to him and to no one else. I ain't got the habit of lying to my boss." The big man clamped his mouth shut and waited for this thrust to sink home.

"You must promise!" Dona soothed her tone and took a step nearer the hulking boss. Her lips parted pleadingly. "For my sake as well as Dad's!"

THIS turn made Dudley cut in. "You'll take your orders from Miss Delo." He spoke shortly and stepped forward aggressively.

"Who asked you to put in?" Swergin growled. "You'll be lucky to keep a whole skin around you if you stay here."

"Dudley," Dona laid a hand lightly on his arm, "let me talk to Mr. Swergin. I think I can make him understand."

"No use wastin' talk. I ain't promisin' nothing. If Asper gets me on the carpet and opens up on me I'm tellin' him facts and not a lot of rubbish."

"But you would lie to save his life!" Dona pleaded.

"I ain't sayin'; ain't making no promises," Swergin was firm.

"You certainly have changed the bold front you made when we first arrived. You were willing enough to tell Asper Delo where to step off then!" Dudley could not withhold this sarcastic truth.

Swergin did not flame up. Instead he grinned suddenly. "Old Asper was a well man then and able to take it. I ain't lying to him now that he's low."

Dona caught Dudley's arm. "Come, Dud. I have to get back to Dad." With a melting smile she faced Swergin. "You will at least promise to see me first, so that I can be there when you report to my father?"

Swergin's thick lips parted in a grin. "Not a word about yourself!" He seemed to enjoy the flush that rose in her cheeks.

"We'll save that for later," Dona countered swiftly. "The doctor says Dad must not be excited. We are no' to tell him the details concerning this affair with Ball. We may even have to tell him that we have captured Ball."

"You mean killed him," Swergin said as he spoke and started off to ward the corral.

"If you don't need me I believe I'll ride out myself," Dudley said slowly.

"Still working on your secret clues?" Dona smiled.

"I've gotten well enough along and may surprise you any hour," Dudley was serious.

"Haven't you forgotten something?" The girl's tone was teasing.

Dudley met her eyes and his lips parted in a grin. "Will you marry me this morning, Miss? If you will I can put off my plans for a few hours." He stepped close to her.

DONA laughed and fled toward the steps. "I couldn't break in on such important business!" Her eyes softened and her lips suddenly drew together firmly. "Dad, please be careful."

Dudley stood still, uncertain whether to leap after her and take her in his arms or to go on down to the corral. The moment's delay decided the question in favor of the corral. Dona was up the steps and inside the door. She waved him a goodbye kiss and was gone.

Dudley walked slowly down the pathway. He was torn between two courses of action. He wanted to go back and he wanted to go on. Had he known it, Dona's words had seemed more tender than her heart dictated. She was planning, guided by a woman's instinct, against a great need she feared might soon arise. Swergin's obstinate actions made her fear that she might have to ask a lot of Dudley Winters.

She paused at her father's door and looked inside. He was lying just as she had left him, his eyes half-closed and his strong mouth a little slack. Dona hurried to her own room and began rummaging through her traveling case. From among a jumble of silk and lace garments she found a paper. It was the marriage certificate Sam Dean had made out and signed. She tucked it into the front of her dress. It felt cold and stiff against her soft skin and a little shiver ran down her spine as she faced the door.

ASPER showed a great deal of improvement that day. When he awakened for his medicine at four o'clock he was in high spirits. Dona felt relieved and bustled herself about the room until he ordered her outside for a breath of fresh air.

"Get outside, young lady, and soak up a little pine and pitch balm and don't be treating me like an old woman with the lumbago. I feel fit as a cougar right now," he rumbled.

"You'll promise you won't try to get up?" Dona asked the question in the manner of an order.

"Feel too lazy," Asper grunted and lay back among the pillows.

Dona wandered down to the corral where she found Malloy sitting on the top pole with his long legs dangling in the air. She greeted him with a smile and rested her arms on the fence. She was just tall enough to rest her chin easily on one shapely arm.

"How is my room?" she asked.

"He'll be needin' a stiff workout pretty soon. He's feelin' his oats," Malloy grinned.

"Swergin will be in with Ball tonight and then I can ride without everyone in camp trailing me."

"Don't plan too much on them birds bringin' Ball in," Malloy drawled softly.

"You seem to think that murderer can't be taken," Dona's tone held an edge.

"Not alive!" Malloy returned frankly. "Ball has turned out to be a bit of a killer and he ain't the kind to be taken by no timber punks with rifles. Ball uses a six gun and meets 'em close in."

"I'm expecting him in with Swergin and his men," Dona repeated as though to reassure herself. She half-turned and instantly whirled to run up the path. Two men were riding down to the corral while Swergin was mounting the steps of the main building. Dona was sure he was headed for Asper's room.

She reached the steps well out of breath. Swergin had gone to his office instead of to her father's room. Dona sat down to catch her breath. She meant to stay right there until the timber boss came out.

Swergin remained in his office through the supper hour. Dona carried Asper's tray of food to him and waited while he ate but the big boss did not come out of his office. Dudley appeared, looking fresh and rested. He sat beside Asper while Dona went to snatch a bite of dinner. She was able to whisper to him to watch for Swergin as she went out.

Darkness had settled as Dona returned from the cook cabin. There was a promise of a moon in a few hours. She heard voices in her father's room and ran up the steps. Swergin was standing in the middle of the floor, his feet planted wide. On his face was a stubborn expression and his massive chin was thrust forward aggressively. Asper Delo was sitting up and he was shaking with anger.

Rodney's Claim to Fame

Caesar Rodney was one of the delegates from Delaware to the Continental congress held in Independence hall, Philadelphia. This congress was to vote on the adoption of independence. By agreement, unless the majority of delegates of each individual colony was in favor of adoption of the declaration, the same would not be done. One of Delaware's delegates was favorable, one was opposed. Caesar Rodney was held at his home in Dover due to illness. Word was sent to him by carrier that his vote was needed. He arose from his sick bed and rode without stopping from Dover to Wilmington to Philadelphia and arrived in time as his name was called on the roll to say, "Delaware casts her vote for independence." History claims that Caesar Rodney's ride was more important, though not as much publicized, as that of Paul Revere. It was because of his ride that the Declaration of Independence was adopted.

YANKS TAKE SECOND GAME OF WORLD SERIES

The New York Yankees made it two straight by their 5 to 2 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the second game of the World Series. This action photo was snapped during the fourth inning, when Combs of the Yankees was trapped off third base and put out at home by Gabby Hartnett, Cub catcher, who threw to Jurgas at third and caught Sewell off third for a double play.

"NOTHING TO IT" YANKEES SAY AS TEAMS HEAD WESTWARD FOR CHICAGO WORLD SERIES GAMES

Four Straight Games Sure, American League Champions Declare: Cubs Fight With Backs To Wall

By DON HILLIKER
Local football will be introduced Saturday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock when Dixon and Mendota meet on the north side athletic field. This marks Dixon's first conference battle while Mendota will be playing its third.

Dixon high is far from the peak of condition for tomorrow's meeting. Lerald is still on the sidelines with an injured nose. F. Kennedy possesses three cracked ribs; Strong received a jolt on his knee in the Amboy game and has seen little practice this week; A. Kennedy's left arm is bruised and swollen, with Capt. Crabtree, Potts and Fordham have minor ailments. Bates, Daniels, Henry, Cook, Keller and Weidman are fit for the Mendota tilt. Coach Lindell, faced with so many handicaps, is a bit shaky about the Saturday afternoon contest. Dixon has a string of seven wins to keep clear but a strong Mendota outfit has surprised in its previous conference games and may have saved the climax for Dixon.

The B teams play the preliminary. Mendota's second string has lost to Rochelle 6-0 and whipped Belvidere 14-0. This will be the opener for the local seconds. Coach Sharpe has a large number of candidates for each post. At the ends Beech, Cinnamon, Jannsen and Westburg are the leaders. The other line jobs probably will see Kline, Mosesholder, Trotter, Fleming, Knapp, Randall, Huffman and a long list of subs. In the backfield there are Smith and Underwood, quarters, N. Whitebread, Tilton, Condon, halves, and Bovey, Withers, L. Whitebread, fullbacks. It is likely that "ans will see a large personnel in this game.

Mendota meets Dixon for the first time in four years. This team is coached by Rufus DeWitt, a University of Nebraska star in 1923-24. He has had powerful elvens in Mendota during the past few years, amply supplied with members of the Newman family, all of which have graduated after great grid careers.

Probable lineups:

The big Yankee party, accompanied by Baseball Commissioner Landis, numbered only one outstanding fellow who did not seem so confident the American League champions would continue to have things their own way, through the efforts or the generosity of the Cubs. He was "Marse Joe" McCarthy, the manager, who admits he takes his baseball seriously and likes it that way.

"This hasn't been so one-sided as a lot of you fellows think," decried McCarthy. "One long hit for the Cubs in the early stages of the game might have changed the whole complexion of things. They are a good ball club.

"We've looked good because Ruffing and Gomez gave us some pitching and we hit in the pinches. That is a tough combination to beat."

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sport Writer
Enroute to Chicago aboard Cubs Special, Sept. 30 —(AP)—The world series of 1932 rolled westward today, bound for Chicago and the third game between the Yankees and the Cubs there Saturday, and the sudden end of baseball's classic engagement as well, unless the Bruins do something drastic immediately about a very serious situation.

As the battle scene shifted from the Yankee Stadium to Wrigley Field the Yankees had stowed away their tenth straight world series victory, a record no other club in the history of baseball can challenge.

Today as the two teams steamed westward on separate trains, the Yankees had added the first two games of the current warfare to the eight straight victories battered out over the Pirates of 1927 and the Cardinals of 1928.

Beat Bush, Warneke
They belted Guy Bush, Burleigh Grimes and Bob Smith when hits meant runs to win a dreary opener, 12 to 6. And yesterday, still making a minimum of effort do a maximum of work, they clubbed away at young Lon Warneke, the tall, spare Arkansas farmer boy, and took a brilliant, exciting duel, 5 to 2.

Desperate for a victory that could have evened the game count before the struggle moved on to the home grounds, where an exhilarated fandom and the natural inspiration of familiar surroundings might turn the tide, Charley Grimm and his warriors threw every resource back of the lanky youngster who was ranked the best pitcher in the National League this season.

The Bruin manager lifted Mark Koenig, veteran of past world series triumphs with the Yankees, from his newly-won post at shortstop because the former infield mate of Tony Lazzeri had damaged his left wrist. He dropped Bill Jurgas into Koenig's place and supplanted Johnny Moore in center field with Frank Danaree, a right-handed hitter who the laws of baseball say should have better luck than a southpaw swinger against left handed pitching.

Warneke Courageous
He did all these things. He started the best pitcher he has, as far as records go; and his strategy worked. Young Demaree knocked in one of the two Bruin runs. Jurgas, brilliant as he was, failed to hit safely, figured in three double plays. Lon Warneke pitched a courageous, studious, sometimes sparkling ball game.

And still Manager Grimm and his Cubs rolled through the outlands today, two games down in the battle for the world championship, facing the task of winning four of the next five games, considered one of baseball's impossibilities. Never in the history of seven game world series has a team come back to win the title after losing the first two engagements.

Only once, in fact, back in the days of nine-game series, did a team turn that trick. The Giants of 1921 walloped the Yanks in eight games after suffering shut-out defeats in the first two.

Always hanging over the Cubs, laying in wait for ever fleeting weakness of Warneke, was that figure of the all-powerful Yankee goblin, the greatest hitting club in baseball, the menace of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Bill Dickey, Earle Combs, and the rest.

Time and again the Cubs have boasted that the Yankee wrecking crew meant nothing to them. "They're just a ball club," said

Warneke. "They're only human beings, like the rest of us. They pull on their trousers one leg at a time, just like we do."

Cubs Too Tense
But when the time came to prove it, they failed. "Bases on balls," said Grimm today, as he summed up the situation. "That's the thing that has licked us so far. We're trying too hard. We're too tense in the pinches."

Against the Cub back ground of regret there showed today even more brilliant by comparison the masterly pitching of another youngster, 21-year-old Vernon Gomez, they left handed Spaniard from California.

He was as loose in yesterday's pinches, as pliable and cutting as a black snake whip.

Carrying on the effectiveness of Charley Ruffing, who fanned ten with his fireball in the muck of the dull first game, the slender Castilian who chews on $200 worth of bridge work bought by the Yankee business office, set eight of the Bruins down on strikes. He allowed but eight hits, two of them doubles by Bill Herman and Riggs Stephenson, and one a triple by Kiki Cuyler that amounted to nothing with two out in the fifth.

The two doubles led to the only Chicago runs, but the first Herman's slash into left field in the first inning, might never have counted but for an error by shortstop Frank Crossetti that let the Cub second baseman advance to third. It was easy for him then to trot home on Riggs Stephenson's fly to center field.

Demaree Ended Rally
The second Chicago run, in the third inning, was something else again, the only time in a bright and sunny day that the Cubs put two belts together. Demaree followed Stephenson's double with a scoring single. Then, with a rally budding, the youthful substitute let himself be trapped off first base for the third out.

The Yankees, led by three singles from the bat of Gehrig, who started Bush's downfall the opening day with a home run, hit Warneke safely ten times, but never for more than one base. Warneke fanned seven.

Gehrig and Dickey pounded two runs home with singles after over-careful Warneke had walked Earle Combs and Joe Sewell, first two men to face him. Then in the third, after fanning Ben Chapman once before with wide curves, Warneke gave him a fast ball, Ben hammered out a single that scoted another pair and then went back to poking at curves, on which he fanned twice more.

The battle resumes in Chicago

Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, Grimm today named Charley Root his starting pitcher Saturday. George Pipgras probably will work for the Yankees.

DIXON BOWLERS GETTING READY FOR THE WINTER

Local Leagues Are In Formation: Traveling Team Busy

The Walnut Grove Products Co. has made entry in the City Bowling Loop, the team to be captained by Ed Detweiler, local representative of that company. The members selected to form the team this year will be Lawrence Poole, Roger Hay, Frank Kness, John Smith and Ed Detweiler.

The City League will be run on the same handicap basis as the leagues of last season. The league will be composed of at least eight teams, four of which have already been organized.

Another match series will be in progress Saturday night when the local fans will have the opportunity to see the LaSalle Knights of Columbus bowling team in action. This is the same team, man for man, that defeated the locals in a spectacular series last season, their team total being 3146, Dixon scoring 3144.

The Dixon Recreation travels to LaSalle tonight to take on the LaSalle Elks team in a return series, Dixon winning their match on the local alleys last Thursday night by 89 pins.

Ed Worley collected the highest three game series yet this season by rolling counts of 222-182-267 for a 671 total.

Another challenge was received this morning from the O'Brien Recreation team of Ottawa. They would like a match series to be arranged as soon as possible. It looks like a busy season for the traveling team this season.

A very enthusiastic group of young ladies have been occupying the alleys at the Dixon Recreation of late and it looks like a young ladies league is going to be the result. Some very good scores

The name of a new Joe Whoozis will be carried on the wires across the country. Whoozis will read his name in tall headlines that herald his heroism in gaining 150 yards through old Whatzis' tough line.

HELPING JOE ALONG—
The coaches will tell you a different story. These gentlemen will assure you perhaps, that a spinner play won the game, or that there were 11 men on the field out there, including Joe, and they were in the game tooth and nail, too.

It probably will be pointed out by the mentors that every time Red Grange carried the ball he had Jim McMillen, Wallie MacIlwain and Earl Britton knocking bodies out of his way.

Frank Summers knocked the enemy out of the path of Thorpe's inspired cruises up and down the gridiron. Marchy Schwartz followed a swath of destruction wrought for him by Mullins and Koken.

Yet those who read the newspapers remember only Grange and Thorpe and Schwartz, and his year they will begin to remember some hitherto unsung Joe Whoozis.

MISTAKES CAN HAPPEN—
Recently, in a conversation with Dr. Jock Sutherland, coach of the University of Pittsburgh, I happened to mention that a rival coach thought a whole lot of one of the Pitt backs who had played in a previous year, and who had received a great deal of publicity as a "wow."

"Sure he was a good back," replied Sutherland. "He was fine on defense and knew how to do everything right. But he lost the game for us, the very game in which Coach .... thought he was so hot."

Even a coach can be fooled on some of the things that happen on the football field where real merit often is hidden by a mass of tangled bodies.

All-Stars Accept Amboy's Challenge

The Dixon All Star soft ball team has accepted the challenge of the Amboy Bafflers for a three game series to decide the disputed county championship. Last Sunday at the Dixon Municipal Airport field, the All-Stars defeated Franklin Grove in two games to win the title, which the Bafflers now dispute. The first game of the series will be played on the diamond at the Amboy fair grounds Sunday afternoon, the second on a local field and provided that a third game is necessary, the managers will cast lots for the site two weeks from Sunday.

ANOTHER ANCESTOR

Minneapolis, Minn. — Delving geologists have been digging up prehistoric men all over the world, and the latest one to be brought to light is the "Minnesota Man," whose bones were found by road builders.

Dr. A. E. Jenks, of the University of Minnesota, has pronounced the skeleton to be that of a primitive youth about 20 years old who cramed this state 20,000 years ago.

The quality of sleep we enjoy is more important than the quantity. Clumber disturbed by any sort of a dream is a sign that the brain is still active.

Do You Remember

"GOOD OLD JOE"—
Just the same, the player who catches the fancy of the men who observe and write football is the one who is going to be remembered long after some deserving gridman is forgotten.

The man in the press box builds Joe Whoozis into a mighty figure of a man, but he is playing only a part in the public reaction to Joe. The people in the stadium are not so much interested in co-ordination of the operating units of a given team on a particular play. What they see is Whoozis' head emerging from a lot of scrambled legs and arms, and they cheer as old Joe goes careening down the field.

Or, they see Whoozis chasing an escaped opponent down to the last white stripe, finally catching him and flinging his man in a fierce tackle, just short of a touchdown.

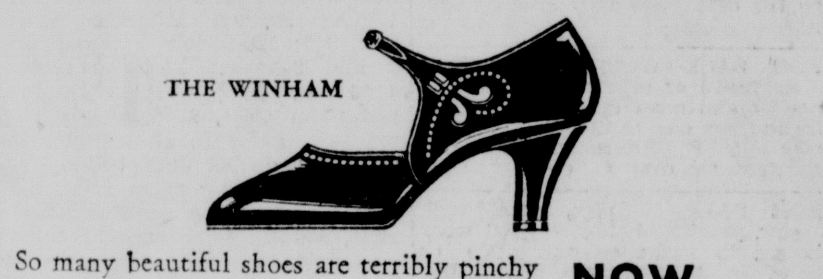

JUST A "KEY MAN"—
The coaches may say only of good old Joe that "he is a good key man," a ball carrier about whom an intricate and tricky offense has been built. But that "key man" part of it doesn't bother the people who see football games. He remains good old Joe, a great guy who would die for dear old Whatzis, and who is by way of being a leather-lugging, swivel-hipped ball totin' fool.

Just how well Joe comes out of it all after the season is ended and the clippings begin to fade depend upon how seriously he has regarded his "writeups." Mostly, however, Joe comes out of it okay.

DIXON FANS TO GET GLIMPSE OF LOCAL HIGH TEAM

Double Header Tomorrow To Inaugurate Local Gridiron Season

By DON HILLIKER
Local football will be introduced Saturday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock when Dixon and Mendota meet on the north side athletic field. This marks Dixon's first conference battle while Mendota will be playing its third.

Dixon high is far from the peak of condition for tomorrow's meeting. Lerald is still on the sidelines with an injured nose. F. Kennedy possesses three cracked ribs; Strong received a jolt on his knee in the Amboy game and has seen little practice this week; A. Kennedy's left arm is bruised and swollen, with Capt. Crabtree, Potts and Fordham have minor ailments. Bates, Daniels, Henry, Cook, Keller and Weidman are fit for the Mendota tilt. Coach Lindell, faced with so many handicaps, is a bit shaky about the Saturday afternoon contest. Dixon has a string of seven wins to keep clear but a strong Mendota outfit has surprised in its previous conference games and may have saved the climax for Dixon.

The B teams play the preliminary. Mendota's second string has lost to Rochelle 6-0 and whipped Belvidere 14-0. This will be the opener for the local seconds. Coach Sharpe has a large number of candidates for each post. At the ends Beech, Cinnamon, Jannsen and Westburg are the leaders. The other line jobs probably will see Kline, Mosesholder, Trotter, Fleming, Knapp, Randall, Huffman and a long list of subs. In the backfield there are Smith and Underwood, quarters, N. Whitebread, Tilton, Condon, halves, and Bovey, Withers, L. Whitebread, fullbacks. It is likely that "ans will see a large personnel in this game.

Mendota meets Dixon for the first time in four years. This team is coached by Rufus DeWitt, a University of Nebraska star in 1923-24. He has had powerful elvens in Mendota during the past few years, amply supplied with members of the Newman family, all of which have graduated after great grid careers.

Probable lineups:
Dixon LE Mendota
Strong LT Shapiro
Daniels LT Schmidt
Crabtree (Capt.) LG Cook
F. Kennedy C Dubbs
Keller RG G. Stevenson
Bates RT L. Stevenson
Potts RE Pohl
Fordham QB Moss
Lightner LHT Andrews
Cook or Henry RH Gullfoyle (C)
A. Kennedy FB Selby
Referee—Dick Ramey, Rockford.
Umpire—Fred Parker, Morrison.
Head Linesman—Marvin Johnson, Polo.

DIXON BOYS IN THREE OF FOUR ROCK4D BOUT

Bill Davis, George Carlson Win: Eddie Carlson Beaten

Rockford, Sept. 30—Failure of three Sycamore boxers and Emil Pappas of Freeport to put in an appearance last night caused the amateur boxing card at the Coliseum to be cut to four bouts. The small crowd that attended took the announcement good naturedly and applauded the fighters in the abbreviated program as the bouts were lively ones.

Pappas had an excuse for not appearing as he was recently vaccinated and his arm was in a swollen condition. As to the Sycamore fighters nothing was heard from them.

In the windup Bill Davis of Dixon decisively beat Joey Mandell in three fast rounds. Davis looked the best he ever has in a Rockford ring while Joey showed the effects of his long layoff from the fight game.

Kid Bruno carried too many guns for Eddie Carlson of Dixon and stopped the visitor in the second round with vicious punches to the body. Bruno had all the better of the first round and was winning easily when the end came. Frank Donofrio of the Swedish gym beat Pete Simlatis of Fenelon's gym in three slow rounds. There was too much clinching in this one to be interesting.

Coming out at the bell with a rush George Carlson of Dixon carried the fight to Al DeShepherd so strong in the initial round that he won the decision although the Rockford battler staged a great rally in the second round. Carlson is a greatly improved fighter and looked mighty sweet last night.
